Industrials slump on losses in Econet and Delta...

The ZSE slipped into the red in Thursday trades on losses in heavies Econet and Delta. The benchmark Industrial index lost 0.29% and closed at 135.38pts, as the market's top stocks Delta and Econet failed to hold on to recent gains. Six counters closed in the black but their gains were outweighed by the falling duo. Econet succumbed 10.96% and settled at $0.1300 entirely wiping off yesterday's gains. Delta was in a marginal 0.02% decline to $0.8400 as recent firm demand began to wane. Loss mitigation for the day was led by retail group Simbisa which powered to a 3.03% rise for the day to settle at $0.1700 while Meikles and Innscor completed the Industrial risers with respective gains of 2.74% and 0.13% as they settled at $0.1050 and $0.4475. The mining index went up 0.66% and closed at 53.65pts buoyed by the rising RioZIM which firmed 1.36% and ended the day at $0.3355.

The market saw improvement in activity though this was largely in the Econet LA's which dominated both the volumes and values of the day. Volumes of the day ballooned 219% and closed at 32.1m units with the Econet LA's accounting for a combined 94.4% of the aggregate. Values of the day were similarly dominated by the LA's which accounted for 81.5% of the total on sustained demand. Foreign inflows contributed 24.35% compared to the 32.21% in outflows as the market deficit flow of funds persisted.
